Rick Larsen Working Together to Protect Our Natural Environment

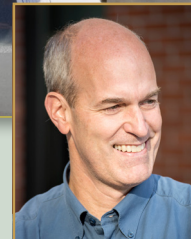

With roots in our region that span five generations, Rick Larsen understands our quality of life in the Pacific Northwest depends on our environment. That's why he's reached across the aisle, working with both parties and all interests, to help preserve clean waters and open spaces throughout our region.

From Wild Sky Wilderness to Ebey's Reserve to Illabot Creek to the San Juan Islands National Monument, Rick has been a leader in preserving the important role nature plays in our lives and economy.
